PROVO, UTAH

Preface.

THE following pages contain the registers of the marriages, baptisms, and burials at the Church of St. Antholin, Budge Row, London, from 1538 to 1754, and also the registers of the baptisms and burials at the Church of St. John Baptist on Wallbrook, London, from 1682 to 1754. The transcript of the original MSS. which form this volume was made a few years ago; at the instigation of the late Colonel CHESTER, and the whole of it was carefully revised by him before his death, and several doubts respecting the earlier entries were cleared up.

The Church of St. Antholin was rebuilt by Sir Thomas Knowles (Lord Mayor of London in 1399 and 1410) and Thomas Knowles his son, who were both buried there; and again rebuilt in 1513 by John Tate, mercer. It was repaired in 1616 at the expense of £1000, raised by seven of the inhabitants. It suffered from the great fire in 1666, but was restored about 1682 by Sir Christopher Wren, and was made the church of the then united parishes of St. Antholin and St. John Baptist, which together were reckoned of the yearly value of £120, in the early part of the eighteenth century, in lieu of tithes to the Incumbent.

Stow says that the Church of St. John Baptist stood upon “the very banks of Walbrook, and from thence it hath been after call'd St. John upon Walbrook.” The church was newly built about 1412, and was repaired and adorned in 1621, but was burnt down in the great fire, and being afterwards annexed to that of St. Antholin, the site remained only as a churchyard for the inhabitants of both parishes.

In 1874 the demolition of St. Antholin was determined and carried out, and it was annexed to St. Mary Aldermary, the registers of which church form the fifth volume of this series.

The entries in this volume are full of interest, though there are few to call for special notice. The plague of 1625 seems to have added considerably to the number of deaths, and from August 1666 to the end of 1667 no entries were made, owing, no doubt, to the great fire.

From 1538 to 1724 the registers of births, marriages, and burials have all been entered together, and in a note following an entry of November the 8th, 1724, it is stated “from this time all births and burials belonging to St. John Baptist’s parish are registered in ye proper register of that parish.” From 1724 to the end of the register of St. Antholin, it will be observed that the marriages are separated from the births and burials; the two latter, however, continue to be entered together. It will be seen, therefore, that previous to 1724 many of the entries of St. John Baptist parish occur in the St. Antholin register, though from the following pages it is clear that the registers of St. John Baptist were in existence from 1682.

The best thanks of the Society are, as before, due to the Rev. LEWIS BORRETT WHITE, D.D., Rector of St. Mary Aldermary, and to the Churchwardens, for their permission to print these registers and for the facilities they have given for their transcription, which has been carried out with the usual well-known care of the Society’s transcriber, Mr. J. EEDES; but more especially are thanks due to Mr. WILLIAM HUGHES, who has corrected the proofs for the press—a labour which Colonel CHESTER had undertaken, but which unfortunately he was not spared to perform.

GEO. J. ARMYTAGE.
